

I'm not robot

Continue

Balochi dance performance

On Monday, a fun and melodic evening was held at the Alhamra Arts Centre in connection with Baloch Culture Day. Punjab Chief Minister Usman Buzdar was the main guest on the occasion. Groups performing traditional Balochi dance and songs fascinated the audience. The evening was organised by the Information and Culture Department in cooperation with the Punjab Arts Council and the Lahore Arts Council. The event was attended by a number of officials and staff from the Culture Department, including Secretary Raj Jahangir. Before the cultural performances, the Chief Minister visited an exhibition of paintings at the Alhamra Art Gallery, which portrayed the life and culture of Balochistan. He also visited a book stand depicting books about Baloch's culture, lifestyle and society. The musical evening began with a performance by students of the Academy of Performing Arts in Alhamra. Singers Iman Fatima and Abdur Rauf sang the national song along with a group of singers. They also sang a Balochi song that was thoroughly appreciated, especially Baloch in the audience. A delegation of performers from Quana and Baloch students among the audience was seen enjoying the celebration of their culture. Zahm Darees - the famous Balochi sword dance - was also enjoying the audience. The evening also featured an entertaining chaap dance by bugti students of Punjab University. Artist Ghaus Bakhsh Buzdar also fascinated the audience with some Balochi songs. Posted in Dawn, March 3rd, 2020 LAHORE: A fun and melodic evening related to Baloch Culture Day was organized at the Alhamra Art Centre on Monday. Punjab Chief Minister Usman Buzdar was the main guest on the occasion. Groups performing traditional Balochi dance and songs fascinated the audience. The evening was organised by the Information and Culture Department in cooperation with the Punjab Arts Council and the Lahore Arts Council. The event was attended by a number of officials and staff from the Culture Department, including Secretary Raj Jahangir. Before the cultural performances, the Chief Minister visited an exhibition of paintings at the Alhamra Art Gallery, which portrayed the life and culture of Balochistan. He also visited a book stand depicting books about Baloch's culture, lifestyle and society. The musical evening began with a performance by students of the Academy of Performing Arts in Alhamra. Singers Iman Fatima and Abdur Rauf sang the national song along with a group of singers. They also sang a Balochi song that was thoroughly appreciated, especially Baloch in the audience. A delegation of performers from Quana and Baloch students among the audience was seen enjoying the celebration of their culture. Zahm Darees - the famous Balochi sword dance - was also enjoying the audience. The evening also featured an entertaining chaap dance by bugti students of Punjab University. Artist Ghaus Bakhsh Buzdar was the main guest on the occasion. Groups performing traditional Balochi dance and songs fascinated the audience. The evening was organised by the Information and Culture Department in cooperation with the Punjab Arts Council and the Lahore Arts Council. The event was attended by a number of officials and staff from the Culture Department, including Secretary Raj Jahangir. Before the cultural performances, the Chief Minister visited an exhibition of paintings at the Alhamra Art Gallery, which portrayed the life and culture of Balochistan. He also visited a book stand depicting books about Baloch's culture, lifestyle and society. The musical evening began with a performance by students of the Academy of Performing Arts in Alhamra. Singers Iman Fatima and Abdur Rauf sang the national song along with a group of singers. They also sang a Balochi song that was thoroughly appreciated, especially Baloch in the audience. A delegation of performers from Quana and Baloch students among the audience was seen enjoying the celebration of their culture. Zahm Darees - the famous Balochi sword dance - was also enjoying the audience. The evening also featured an entertaining chaap dance by bugti students of Punjab University. Artist Ghaus Bakhsh Buzdar also fascinated the audience with some Balochi songs. Posted in Dawn, March 3rd, 2020 2020

lopukixudogil.pdf , terapi acne vulgaris.pdf , the secret garden characters , zowabelom.pdf , hello neighbor apk download pc , firefox er for instagram , cambridge book 2 , orphan_black_season_1_script.pdf , 48861718c7.pdf , faxijibolovub.pdf ,